Total tech investment Q1 – Q4 2005

Comments

From the USA

"The total level of tech investment closed in the US was lower in Q4 2005 than at any stage over the last two years. Across every measure, the level of investment was down significantly.

I was surprised to see these figures because the market still feels like it is very much in an upturn, and so I am not too concerned. Q4 2004 showed a similarly low level of investment and the figures recovered strongly in the following quarters. Thanksgiving and Christmas undoubtedly have an effect, and I expect that a number of deals were closed but were not reported in time for this synopsis. Clearly this will add weight to the figure for Q1 2006.

It is evident that the level of investment in the US tech market peaks in the second quarter of the year. It will be interesting to see if that trend develops further in 2006. My firm prediction is that it will. Confidence is riding high here, and our US operation is going from strength to strength. We are rightly viewed as a barometer of the health of this sector which we serve and Q4 2005 was a record quarter for us, – the best since the firm established its US operation in 2000."

From Europe

"The figures for Q4 2005 provided a weak end to what was a phenomenal year for tech investment in Europe. Figures for Q4 are normally less than would be expected, with the Christmas break having a clear effect, but, even so, these figures are very disappointing with only $441M in tech investment being deployed in Q4 2005. This is the lowest figure in the last two years, the previous low being $522M in Q4 2004.

This figure does look like an aberration when viewed in the context of the trend in tech investment in Europe which is clearly up. Q3 2005 in Europe was the biggest quarter in the last two years with $748M in tech investment deployed – this was a landmark quarter in many ways.

Sentiment in the market remains extremely positive. 2005 was a great year showing consistent and strong growth in investment in Europe. Having a vested interest in these figures, the most pleasing trend I have observed is that the quantity of tech deals in Europe has remained unchanged over the last two years. This means that the growth has largely been borne out of an improvement in deal size, which peaked at $8M across Europe in Q3 2005 and nearly $9M in the UK. This is a very positive development in the evolution of Europe into a breeding ground for tech businesses with real global potential, rather than being just a region that incubates good tech businesses which then relocate to the US.

The market for our services is currently very keen. There is an upsurge in high-quality European businesses seeking to aggressively grow their operations as well as many US tech companies looking to establish, or significantly grow, their European presence. 2006 looks set to be a great year – here's hoping that the Calibre One Index for Q1 2006 shows a recovery to a positive trajectory rather than starting a negative trend. If I were a betting man, then I would bet heavily on the figures turning around strongly in Q1 2006."

Setting the standard

With offices in London and San Francisco, Calibre One is the world's leading executive search organisation dedicated to working with high-growth technology businesses and their investors to find outstanding talent to help them realise their true value.

Our 'no stone left unturned' approach to each assignment produces results that consistently surpass our competitors. This has enabled us to build partnerships with the world's leading private equity investors and their portfolio companies across the world.

Executive search

Never before has the effective and efficient recruitment of senior managers been more of a mission critical undertaking. A successful technology company is built on three core pillars of value – the technology (IP), the balance sheet and the quality of the team.

We help our partners to achieve their business objectives through managing the effective recruitment and retention of great people on their behalf.

We measure our success in client terms, not our own. Completing an assignment is only the start. The real measure of success of any Executive placement is the improved performance of the business. With this in mind, Calibre One provides the most comprehensive guarantee in the market. Should we recruit a candidate who does not work out in their first six months, for whatever reason, then we will undertake to manage the assignment again for no additional fee.

In this way our success is inextricably linked to the success of our clients.

Interim Management

Calibre One Interim is a leading Interim Management provider. It manages a hand-picked network of highly skilled and experienced executives all of whom have been subjected to a rigorous assessment and referencing process before being accepted onto the register.

Whether it's a spin-out, strategic review, special project, aggressive expansion or a turnaround, Calibre One Interim can be trusted to deliver outstanding Interim Management solutions in record time.
